WILLIAM W. BODDINGTON was born on November 22, 1910 in Jersey City, New Jersey. He passed away in Colorado Springs, Colorado on November 15, 1996. His sons, John and Tim, survive him. Throughout his life, Boddington modeled the personal traits of service, leadership, courage, integrity, and vision to impact and influence the world in which he lived.

Boddington served in the United States Army from 1941 to 1945. He joined the 10th Mountain Division in 1942 and remained with the Division until 1945. During the Division's training at Camp Hale, Colorado, he commanded Company A of the 86th Regiment. As a highly respected commander, the US Army awarded him the Bronze Star for his valor while serving with the 10th Mountain Division in the Italian Campaign.

In addition to his service to his country, as a young athlete, Boddington served on the USA Men's Field Hockey team for the 1932 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles and the 1936 Summer Olympics in Berlin, Germany. Adolph Hitler signed his visa. Following WWII, Boddington continued his love of sports by coaching soccer at Colorado College. In 1990 he was recognized as the "Father" of Colorado College soccer. In 1995 he was among the first group of athletes to be inducted into the Colorado College Athletic Hall of Fame.

Bill Boddington's passion for the 10th Mountain Division continued throughout his life. As one of the founders of the Tenth Mountain Division Foundation, he served as President and President Emeritus. For many years, he was the heart and soul of the Foundation. As an honored motivator, innovator and visionary, he led the Tenth Foundation and influenced the National Association through many significant advances, which helped them evolve into the successful organizations they are today.

One of his most important visions concerning the Foundation was the creation of the current Tenth Mountain Division Descendants, Inc. Foreseeing that WWII Foundation members would inevitably retire from the Board, he realized the need to somehow continue the good works programs of the Foundation without WWII veteran members. That vision has become a reality, as the entire Board of Directors is comprised of Tenth Mountain Division descendants.

Bill Boddington dedicated time to community service. He was trustee of the Colorado Springs School and a trustee of the Colorado Springs School Foundation. He also served as a Trustee of the 10th Mountain Division Trail Hut System. He served on the Board of the Colorado Opera Festival and was an early founder of the SOXY program in Colorado Springs. In 1987 he was the honoree of the Mountain States Retail Lumber Association; only 14 other men have received a Life Membership from this Association.

Bill Boddington exhibited a dynamic personality and lived his life as a man of high integrity and strong character. Once he decided upon a course of action, he pursued his goal with tenacity and vigor. He overcame obstacles by personal doggedness and determination. Although he was a man of great compassion for his fellow man, he stood firm on his ideals that hard work and steadfastness could overcome many obstacles. He had a grand scope of interests, not the least of which included sports, the arts and love of his country. The hallmark of this great man was to live his life with passion and to leave the world a better place than he found it.
